1. Date, place and format of the Global Conference

The “Counted and Visible: Global Conference on the Measurement of Gender Equality and Intersecting Inequalities”, will take place on:

Date: Wednesday 26th February – Thursday 27th February 2020

Time: 10:00 am – 6:00 pm

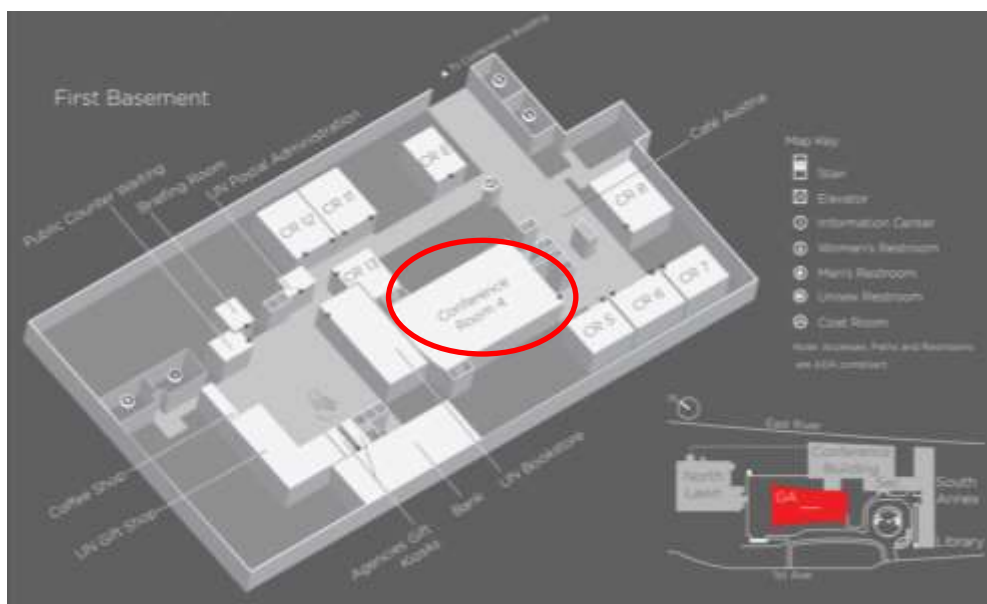

Location: United Nations Headquarters, Conference Room 4

On the margins of the 51st Session of the United Nations Statistical Commission, UN Women, in collaboration with the UN Statistics Division (UNSD), will convene a global conference on the measurement of gender equality, leave no one behind and intersecting inequalities. The objective of the conference will be to a) create a common understanding among data users and producers on how to measure ‘leave no one behind’ and what it means from a gender perspective and b) contribute to current work on data disaggregation led by the IAEG-SDGs in order to better inform advocacy, policies and to promote accountability on gender equality and women’s empowerment. Discussion and shared experience in gender and intersectionality will also contribute to discussions in inequalities related to other vulnerable groups.

Topics to be explored include: i) the importance of measuring gender and intersecting inequalities and its theoretical foundations; ii) multi-level data disaggregation and gender-responsive monitoring of the SDGs; iii) Innovations in data collection, analysis, dissemination and communication, including use of technology for measuring intersecting inequalities and iv) policy and programmatic uses of data on gender and intersecting inequalities. Although the main focus will be on gender statistics and analysis, some examples presented during the Conference will be relevant to or address other thematic areas.
